MAJOR WRIGHT'S DISCOVERY.

For years the tobacco manufacturer of the country has been annoyed by what is known as the tobacco bug, and they have made every effort possible to checkmate these destroyers in their inroads into the profits of the business.
No matter how well the manufacturer's article may be protected with excellent boxing and careful packing these little destroyers will, in spite of all the precaution, get in their destructive work, and make useless and unsalable thousands upon thousands of pounds of tobacco annually.
A Portsmouth man in the person of Mayor James E. M. Wright, whose father made famous the Durham smoking tobacco by its flavoring, has at last solved this great question by discovering a "liquid" that will, he says, and he has given it a long and severe test, prevent, by its use, the great annoyance and loss which the tobacco manufacturers have been subjected to by reason of these little bugs.
So firmly convinced is Mayor Wright, that he has just what has been so long needed in that direction, and so absolutely sure is he, that it will do its work quickly and effectively, that he has agreed to allow any and all reputable manufacturers of tobacco to test it for themselves. He calls it "Wright's Tobacco Bug Destroyer," and "if it will do what its discoverer is positive it will do, a large fortune awaits Mayor Wright, said a well known dealer yesterday.

The John W. Daniel Club of the Fourth Ward had a largely attended meeting last night. BERKLEY.

Last evening at 8 o'clock Odd Fellows' Hall in South Norfolk was well filled with people, the occasion being the commencement exercises of the South Norfolk graded school. The boys and girls, attired in becoming costumes, with faces bright and hearts glad, because of the event, made a decidedly pretty picture. Each little boy and girl performed their respective parts well, and reflected much credit upon their teachers. This year the school was under the direction of Miss R. B. Wright, assisted by Misses Blanch Barry and Nancy Shafer, and was perhaps the most successful year in the history of the school. The school buildings have been enlarged and improved in many respects, and the trustees are making preparations to establish and maintain an effective system throughout the county.

PROGRAM.

Singing Chorus, by the school; recitation, Miss Mattie Jones; duet, Misses Adams and McLeary; Mother Goose, Ball Hall; Home of Liberty, school; Queen of the Fairies; Boat Song; Scat Drill; good-night, by the school.

Intermediate Department—Bertha Glendon, scholarship; Othie Shepman, attendance.
Primary Department—Pansy Dean, scholarship, and a handsome gold ring from her parents for department.

RA-.

The striking girls stood in groups on Twenty-sixth street for hours this morning and gently cheered as there were accessions to their ranks. There was no disorder, however, and no demonstration discernible to the managers of the factory was made.
The three clergymen drew up for the girls and presented to Mr. Whitlock the following statement of grievances:
"The rules are of such a character that work as we will, at the present rate of pay, it is impossible for us to make living wages."
"To dock a girl ten cents for talking is surely a great grievance."
"To lose our work simply because we forgot to bring our ticket or tag with us when we carry it in, is unjust and PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE."

Miss Ada L. Perry, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. H. L. West, on Lee street for the past two months, left yesterday afternoon for her home in Lunenburg, much to the regret of her many friends here.

Mr. Harry Baker, of Maryland, is visiting his sister, Mrs. C. C. Duston, in South Norfolk.

The Presbyterian and Christian Sunday schools will picnic at Virginia Beach to-day. Excursionists will be able to purchase tickets at the Norfolk and Western depot, but not at the Virginia Beach depot.

Mr. J. W. Dutton, of South Norfolk, left yesterday for Washington to spend several days.

Mr. Day White, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Haskett, in Oakdale, left yesterday for his home in Elizabeth City, N. C.
